Miss Doris Turner Says
That She Was Kept Prisoner for Two Days by
"Old Man With Cane."

VICTIM DECLARES
SHE WAS DRUGGED

Suffered No Harm, She Tells Parents; Half-
Starved Girl Put Under Physician's Care.

With her legs bound lightly at the ankles, Miss Doris Turner, missing 16-year-old Hoke Smith junior high school student, walked into a filling station at 1201 Lee street, S. W., shortly after 6 o'clock Thursday night, 26 hours after she vanished on her way to school Wednesday morning.

The girl told Edgar Moss, 1138 Harmon street, manager of the station, that she had been kidnapped Wednesday morning, drugged and carried to a one-story residence, the location of which she did not know, and held a prisoner there until early Thursday night, when she was again loaded into a motor car and put out about three-fourths of a mile from the filling station. She said she was not certain but she believed she had been left in the woods to the south-west of the filling station.

Moss told Patrolman "Tex" Rickard that the girl did not appear to have undergone any hardships.

"She appeared like an ordinary school girl except for the binding at the ankles," he said.

Tells "Kidnaping" Story.

Miss Turner told her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Turner, 512 Boulevard, S. E., an exciting story of the 26 hours during which she was the object of a city-wide search, her capture being, she said, "the old man with a cane" whom she and girl school chums had reported seeing on numerous occasions and whom Doris is reported to have said she feared.

The return of Doris also brought joy to her Hoke Smith classmates who had aided in the search for her in the afternoon. While school was in session little work was accomplished, members of the faculty admitted, the interest of the students centering in Doris and her disappearance.

Though Chief of Detectives A. Lamar Poole assigned Detectives Stephens and Taylor to investigate every angle of the case Thursday nothing was done Thursday night. The girl's appearance at the filling station and her return home, Chief Poole was not at his post Thursday night and whether or not the case will be investigated further today could not be learned.

Hailed by "Old Man."

"I was late and hurrying to school Wednesday morning when the old man drove up and hailed me as I started to cut through the yard," Doris told her parents and newspaper reporters Thursday night. "He asked me if he could drive me to school and though I was afraid of him I thought I would take the chance."

U. S. ARMY PLANE SHATTERS RECORD FOR TIME FLIGHT

Metropolitan Airport, Los Angeles, January 3.—(AP)—The world's record for sustained flight by refueling was broken tonight by the American army monoplane Question Mark, which took off here on New Year's day and was still flying tonight at 8:33:47 o'clock. At that hour the plane had been in the air 61 hours, seven minutes, or an hour longer than the record established by two Belgian fliers last June.

Aeronautics standards require that a record must be surpassed by an hour to be broken.

The great Fokker soared on toward another record, that for sustained flight, regardless of refueling, set by the Germans at 65 hours and 25 minutes.

FIGHT ON TREATY OUTLAWING WARS OPENS IN SENATE

Borah Leads Administration
Forces as Filibuster
as Cruiser Bill Is Avoided;
Hall-Blaine Oppose.

Washington, January 3.—(United News).—Debate on the Kellogg anti-war treaty started in the senate today with Senator Borah, of Idaho, in a new role as champion of the administration.

Just as the treaty made its way to the senate arena after elbowing the 15-cruiser bill aside by the most Herculean effort, the house launched upon consideration of one of the largest army appropriation bills of peace-time carrying nearly half a billion dollars.

Senator Borah brought up the anti-war treaty immediately following a speech by Chairman Hale, of the naval affairs committee, urging authorization of 15 cruisers to be built within three years and an aircraft carrier. Hale warned that Great Britain, France and Japan are running ahead of the United States in naval building and that the way to discourage them was to build too.

As Hale completed his plea, Senator Borah, rose and acting under a recent agreement with the navy forces, moved consideration of the treaty by which the nations of the world renounce war for all time.

No Reservations.

Requesting that he be allowed to proceed without interruption, Borah started the debate with a detailed explanation of the treaty and description of the circumstances under which it was signed by 15 nations and later adhered to by 45 more. He predicted every nation in the world would ultimately adhere.

He said the first clause of the pact which denounces war as an instrument of national policy has come to be regarded as the crux of the agreement. He said the treaty, which pledges every signatory to settle its international disputes by pacific means is the treaty's "active virtue."

Correspondence between the original signatories and later adherents prior to their signing of the treaty contains no reservation of the treaty, Borah told the senate. It has all the force and all the face value it ever had had this correspondence never been exchanged, he contended.

None of the nations signing the treaty has sacrificed the right of self-defense, Borah said, and none has entered into an agreement to enforce peace. He said an act of war in violation of the treaty would automatically abrogate the treaty and release all the signatories from its further operation.

Target of Questions.

"The philosophy of this treaty is not the prevention of war but the organization of peace," he said.

The galleries were jammed for Borah's introductory speech and almost every seat on the floor was occupied. Several senators, including Reed, Missouri democrat, who is regarded as leader of the fight against the treaty, took notes on Borah's arguments.

As his speech progressed, senators began bombarding Borah with questions concerning the affect of the treaty on the Monroe Doctrine and the obligations assumed by the United States if it is ratified. He replied that the principle of the Monroe Doctrine will be unchanged and that this country will accept no obligation to enforce the treaty.

Because of the questioning, Borah was unable to finish his speech and he will resume his argument at noon tomorrow when the senate reconvenes. Reed is expected to follow him and

Site Near Terminal Station Selected By Government for New Postoffice

The site selected by the government for the new postoffice building in Atlanta is shown as the solid black portion in the sketch above. The location now is occupied by the freight depot of the Central of Georgia railway, at the Spring street viaduct, is near the Terminal station and adjoins, on the north, the Central of Georgia freight offices. The sketch shows the location of the new postoffice with other important points in city. Between the Forsyth street and Spring street viaducts is shown, in dotted line, the proposed new Union depot, planned by the N. C. & St. L. railway. The present postoffice building also is indicated, at Forsyth and Walton streets.

RECEIVERS ASKED FOR CECIL HOTEL

Manget Interests Sue for Right To Exercise Alleged Option; Hotel's Reputation Hit.

Court fight over equity in the Cecil hotel property, at Luckie and Cone streets, faced the Carolina Realty Company, Inc., Thursday following the action of the Manget Realty company and John A. Manget in suing in Fulton superior court for appointment of receivers for the property and for a court decree to compel the defendant to allow the petitioners to exercise an alleged option to repurchase the equity.

In an order signed by Judge G. H. Howard, the defendant is required to show cause on Tuesday why the prayers of the Manget Realty company and Manget should not be granted. Meanwhile, Judge Howard has appointed R. M. George and J. D. Thomas as temporary receivers to take possession of the property and collect rents from the lessees. Joint bond for the receivers was fixed at $10,000.

Lessee's Operation Unrestrained.

Judge Howard pointed out that the court order does not interfere with the lessees in the proper operation of the hotel or other business in accordance with the lease contracts, but that the lessees are restrained from changing the present status of their contracts with the defendant company and are required to account to the receivers in accordance with the terms of the lease.

Pointing out that good reputation and character are of great value to a hotel, and holding that the Cecil was a high-class hotel at the time of the original transaction, and that the defendant company had permitted the hotel to be run down, he ordered the lessees to maintain the hotel as a high-class, respectable institution, the petitioners charge that the defendant has violated this provision of the contracts.

Reputation Declines, Claim.

The defendant has permitted the reputation and character to decline in such a manner that many respectable people have refused to patronize the hotel, thereby greatly impairing its commercial value, the petitioners allege.

The petition charges that on numerous occasions persons have been arrested in the hotel charged with violating the liquor law, and with gambling and gaming, and that the defendant has permitted various and numerous indisputable women to reside in the hotel. This condition frequently has been called to the attention of the defendant, but the defendant permitted the condition to continue, the petition alleges.

Troubles over the hotel grew out of the need of the plaintiffs for money to pay G. L. Miller & Co., Inc., the amount of $56,142.72 due on the hotel bonds, which at the time amounted to $500,000 as principal, the petition alleges. The plaintiffs secured a reduction of the prior mortgage indebtedness. The suit asks for an accounting of the defendant's actions and doings, and that title to the property be vested in the Manget Realty company, free from lien, claims and demands of the defendant. The petition alleges that the defendant maintained that it is owner in fee simple and has refused to receive the money due and convey the property to the plaintiffs. The petition asks that the plaintiffs be allowed to repay the net sum received as a loan, and pleads for a decree setting out that the contract made for interest, charges and compensation is a contract for the payment of usury and void in law.

NEGOTIATIONS UNDER WAY FOR SITE OF PRESENT CENTRAL OF GEORGIA RAILWAY FREIGHT DEPOT.

Negotiations by the federal government to secure the site of the present Central of Georgia freight depot, north of the Terminal station and west of Spring street, are underway but have not yet been concluded, it was learned in Atlanta Thursday.

The postoffice department has decided definitely to erect a magnificent new postoffice building on this site, it was stated in Washington dispatches. Local officials of the railroad, however, said that the deal for the purchase was still pending and it is believed the railroad is reluctant to sell but is seeking to sell the "air rights" over a portion of the site measuring 200x400 feet. This would permit the government to erect its building over the site, but would necessitate leaving space below the building for the tracks of the railroad.

Site Definitely Selected.

John H. Bartlett, first assistant postmaster general, announced that this site had been finally selected, but said it was not yet decided whether a building would be erected from the site.

CHANGE IN SCHOOL EXAMINERS IS HIT

Fulton Board of Health
Asks Commission to Rescind Action Replacing Dr. L. H. Goldsmith.

A request that the county commissioners rescind their action of Wednesday in replacing Dr. L. H. Goldsmith with Dr. Hollis Hope as medical examiner for the county schools is contained in resolutions adopted Thursday by the Fulton county board of health at its annual meeting at the court-house.

Submitting that it always has been the theory and practice of the health board that Dr. Goldsmith was elected by it and was directly responsible to it, the resolutions claim that the county commissioners are without authority to remove Dr. Goldsmith without consulting with the health board.

"If by any technicality of law our opinion as to the authority of this position is erroneous we respectfully submit that the removal of Dr. Goldsmith would be highly prejudicial to the interests of the schools of Fulton county, which, in our opinion, are above all other interests in the county," the resolutions state. "The records on file in this office show, beyond question, the high quality of the work done by Dr. Goldsmith, and the results of his efforts and labors are of untold value to the school system and the county at large."

Dr. Goldsmith was elected by the health board to fill the position as the result of an urgent need and insistent demand throughout the county school system and the board of county commissioners were requested to approve the action of the board and to provide the salary, which was done on July 16, 1925, the resolutions state. Since that time Dr. Goldsmith has worked untiringly under the health board, submitting to it his monthly reports and being elected from year to year by the board, the resolutions point out.

Reorganization of the county health board has resulted in the election of Dr. W. F. Wells as chairman, and Paul S. Etheridge, chairman of the county commission, as vice chairman. T. E. Lockhart was re-elected clerk and health officer; Captain J. W. Hall, W. T. Cawthon and E. T. Stanley being re-elected as sanitary inspectors.

CITY TO ACCLAIM GRIDIRON HEROES

Celebration, To Include
Band Concerts and Parade Planned for Tech
Welcome Monday Night

Atlanta will roar her most enthusiastic and hearty welcome to the world's champion football team when the conquering warriors from Tech flats detain at the Terminal station at 8:40 o'clock Monday night.

A gigantic triumphal arch will be erected over the Whitehall street viaduct under which the Tech team will pass on the parade through downtown Atlanta.

One of Atlanta's most beautiful belles will represent Miss Atlanta in extending the welcome to the players, and two men, representing, respectively, Uncle Sam and the state of Georgia, also will be introduced at a brief ceremony at the triumphal arch before the march of triumph is begun.

To Light Stores.

All merchants of the city will light store fronts and Peachtree and Whitehall streets from Mitchell to North Avenue will be brightly lit. Tech colors will predominate in the color scheme. Many of the stores will keep their doors open in the event of inclement weather in order to welcome those wishing to review the gigantic parade to do so without exposing themselves to the elements.

Spectators will be barred from the Terminal plaza and will be expected to view the paraders along the line of march from the station to Tech.

The southern metropolis has welcomed the immortal Woodrow Wilson, Al Smith and the ace of aces, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, have been guests of the city, but never before has such general interest been taken in the reception of any group of individuals.

Business of the city will be sidetracked as thousands of spectators within a radius of many miles will be among the throng to gather at the station and congratulate those who valiantly defended the traditions of Tech in the parade in full armor.

More than 1,700 Tech military students and the Tech band will head the parade in the parade in full armor. The Tech military units will be under the command of Colonel E. D. A. Pearce, commandant at the college.

Following Tech will be military organizations of the various prep schools of the city with bands. Tech High, Boys' High, Fulton High, Marietta and the Georgia Military Academy will participate in this section of the parade.

Governor L. G. Hardman and staff, Mayor I. N. Ragsdale and members of city council and county commissioners, President M. L. Brittain, of Tech, officials of the chamber of commerce and other distinguished men of the day will follow the military groups and precede the team, which will follow in open cars.

Details Worked Out.

Details of the parade were worked out Thursday afternoon at a meeting of a subcommittee of the citizens' committee appointed by Mayor Fred Tompkins. This committee, composed of Henderson Hallman and E. S. Barker, of the chamber of commerce, and Joe W. Ray, John Camber, John Otley, Jr., C. F. Dieter and Parks Hunt, of the junior chamber, will prepare plans for the procession.

It was requested by the committee that as many merchants as possible keep their doors open, so that in case of inclement weather, spectators may have some refuge from the elements as the parade passes.

Governor Hardman will head the welcome committee and Mayor Ragsdale will follow.

PARAGUAY, BOLIVIA SIGN PEACE TREATY; NINE JUDGES TO ACT

JUDGE ADAMSON, 8-HOUR AUTHOR, DIES IN NEW YORK

Former Georgia Congressman, Carrollton Resident, Succumbs to Pneumonia in Hospital.

New York, January 3.—(AP)—William C. Adamson, former Georgia congressman, who sponsored the railroad act named for him, died of pneumonia at Presbyterian hospital. He was 74 years old.

Mr. Adamson was a resident of Carrollton, Ga. He retired a year ago from the customs court bench to which he had been appointed by President Wilson after two decades of service in congress.

At Mr. Adamson's bedside was his wife, Ellen Zellers Adamson; his sister-in-law, Mrs. Estelle Baylock, and his three sons, Reese and Ernie, of New York, and Charles, of Camden, New Jersey.

The most significant achievement linked with the career of William C. Adamson, for two decades a member of the house of representatives of the national congress from Georgia, was the railroad eight-hour day law, a measure which fixed train men's working hours at eight hours and prevented a threatened strike in the industry.

As chairman of the house interstate and foreign commerce committee, Mr. Adamson also was active in other railroad matters. He resigned in 1917 to accept appointment by President Wilson as a member of the board of United States general appraisers (customs court).

The Adamson act was passed shortly before America entered the world war, during a period when a transportation tie-up would have been especially disastrous. The bill was approved after a six day expression of bitter feeling among members of both parties but it was accepted by leaders of the railroad brotherhood as a "satisfactory compromise."

The supreme court was called upon to pass on the constitutionality of the Adamson act in March, 1917, and upheld it, but a constitutional amendment, creating a board of nine judges to decide cases between the two parties, was passed by congress in 1920.

OSCAR UNDERWOOD IS SERIOUSLY ILL, NIECE DISCLOSES

Birmingham, Ala., January 3.—(AP)—Mrs. W. C. O'Ferral, a niece of former Senator Oscar W. Underwood, said here tonight that she had received information that Underwood is "seriously ill."

The information was received in a long distance telephone call from Fred W. Underwood, in Knoxville, a nephew of the former Alabama senator.

Mrs. O'Ferral said that no information was given as to the nature of Mr. Underwood's illness. Underwood recently was discharged from a Baltimore hospital where he had been treated for eye trouble. Relatives here said they believed his present illness might be connected with the recent trouble.

STATE ALIENISTS' BOARD ADVOCATED

Dr. Charles E. Waits,
Head of Fulton Medical Society, Urges Constitution Amendment.

Formation, by means of an amendment to the state constitution, of a board of alienists, from whose decisions on the sanity of criminals there could be no appeal, provided such a step should seem advisable to representatives of the state medical and bar associations, was advocated in the inaugural address of Dr. Charles E. Waits, newly-elected president of the Fulton County Medical society, whose installation into office was one of the features of the twenty-fourth anniversary meeting of the organization Thursday night at the Capital City club.

Speaking of the testimony of physicians in the prosecution of criminals, Dr. Waits stated that the increasing number of instances where the courts have been called upon to decide cases "seems to be a serious reflection upon the integrity and competency of our profession." "Would it not be well," he continued, "for a representative group of men from the state medical and bar associations to discuss the matter and if it should seem advisable, draft a constitutional amendment creating a board of alienists whose decision should be final?"

Board of Examiners.

Dr. Waits stated that a bill would be introduced at the next session of the state legislature, the auspices of the state association "to establish a state board of examiners in the basic sciences underlying the practice of the healing art and to provide that a certificate to practice medicine or surgery shall be a prerequisite to eligibility for examination for license to practice the healing art." He pointed out that such an act would not only give the state a measure of control over the medical profession, but also would have for their aim the improvement and preservation of the health of the people was generally conceded.

Fuller cooperation of the society with the state board of health also was urged in its coming legislative program which, he said, included the following items: A substantial increase in the appropriation for the board itself; an appropriation to enable the board to make a systematic financial help to the weak counties in the establishment of the Ellis health laws; a state subsidy to local county tuberculosis hospitals; a state building program for Gracewood, and the building of a school for the feeble-minded in Atlanta or Fulton county to be run as a state institution.

Prizes for Papers.

Following the installation of officers and the inaugural address of Dr. Waits, Dr. E. B. Block, chairman of the committee on awards, announced that the two prizes offered for the best papers during the past year had been won by Dr. James R. McCorr and Dr. Dan C. Elkin. Next came the presentation of certificates of 25-year membership in the society to Dr. W. T. Jones, Dr. E. G. Ballenger, Dr. W. A. Upchurch and Dr. W. B. Emery.

The meeting was concluded by a specially-prepared act entitled, "The Return of the Immortals," or the "All-Time Eleven," during which 11 of the most famous physicians of history were impersonated by members of the society. Each was garbed in the costume of the time which he represented and each one unobtrusively told of the marvelous advances in medical science which "they" had made during "their" lifetime.

Dr. Frank Roland presided at the meeting. Officers of the society for 1929 are: Dr. Charles E. Waits, president; Dr. J. N. Brawner, vice president; Dr. Howard Bailey, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. A. M. Harrison, executive secretary.

SOUTH AMERICAN HOSTILITIES END IN ARBITRATION

Future Peace of Western Hemisphere Also Assured in Multilateral Pan-American Pacts.

U. S. TO NAME ONE OF JUDGES

Commission Will Investigate Difficulty for Six Months Before Rendering Decision in Row.

Washington, January 3.—(AP)—The Pan-American conference on arbitration and conciliation brought to a successful conclusion today its efforts to obtain a peaceful settlement of the Bolivian-Paraguayan dispute and at the same time agreed on two multilateral treaties to prevent future outbreaks of hostilities in the western hemisphere.

A protocol of conciliation of the controversy between Paraguay and Bolivia was signed tonight by representatives of the two countries after the conference had striven ever since its opening on December 10 to achieve this accomplishment.

During the day draft multilateral treaties for the arbitration and conciliation of future international controversies were approved by committees of the conference and tonight only lacked the formal ratification of the conference as a whole.

To Name Nine Judges.

The protocol of the Bolivian-Paraguayan dispute calls for the appointment of an international tribunal of nine judges to investigate the recent clashes between the troops of those nations on the disputed border with a view to determine which of the two broke the peace. After an investigation of the commission will endeavor to reconcile the two countries and bring about the resumption of amicable relations.

The commission would be composed of four judges, two appointed by each of the disputants and five more to be named, one each by the United States, Mexico, Colombia, Uruguay and Cuba. Six months would be allowed for the commission to investigate and conciliate the parties with an extension of six months more if necessary. At the end of this period, if its conciliation efforts shall have failed, the commission is empowered to fix the responsibilities for the frontier incident.

The protocol also calls for both Bolivia and Paraguay to desist from all warlike activities pending the labors of the commission and empowers this body to "advise the parties concerning measures to be taken to prevent a recurrence of hostilities."

Compulsory Arbitration.

The arbitration treaty establishes the principles of compulsory arbitration for all international controversies among the American republics to which established principles of international law can be applied. Two exceptions, however, are included in the

50 Billion Railway Case Before U. S. Supreme Court Attacks Basis of All Rates

Justices Show Critical Attitude Toward Argu- ment of Attorney Represent- ing Government Side

Washington, January 3.—(United Press.)—High-powered legal brains grappled before the supreme court today over the complex problem of how to determine what a railroad is worth.

At least a billion dollars a year in freight rates which would affect nearly every commodity are involved—and the peg upon which this mighty argument is hung is a little nine-mile railroad which weaves its way around the Anheuser-Busch plant in St. Louis.

Argument on the St. Louis and O'Fallon valuation case which began before the supreme court today immediately developed a straight-out debate on the merits of the interstate commerce commission's system of valuation and the elementary economic question: which is all-important to public utilities?

"What is value?"

Frederick H. Wood, New York lawyer representing the railroads, went direct to the rate-making question, which involves potentially a billion dollars a year in freight rates, when he denounced the commission for setting rates on the basis of "obsolete pre-war" prices.

Donald R. Richberg, progressive leader and lawyer for the American valuation conference, appearing in this case in response to a formal resolution of the United States senate, replied with a spirited defense of the commission.

Justices Van Devanter, McReynolds and Sutherland interrupted Richberg with questions indicating a critical attitude toward his argument, which went to the economic question, "What is value," and answered it with the definition that value is the base upon which a property will produce a return under fair competitive conditions. Under this reasoning, the value is derived from the rate of fair return, somewhat as the commission has done. Justice Sutherland's questions indicated he believed the value came before the rate, the latter being based on the former.

Justice Butler, who appeared as an attorney in some valuation cases, withdrew from the court when the argument was started by Daniel N. Kirby, St. Louis, another O'Fallon lawyer. Butler is the author of the court's Indianapolis water case decision, a precedent cited by the railroads in its contention for a "current reproduction cost" valuation. His retirement raises the possibility the case might be decided by a 4-to-4 vote, which case the decree of the three-judge Missouri court, upholding the commission and declining to enter into the merits of valuation would be affirmed.

The argument will be resumed at noon tomorrow by Richberg, followed by former Attorney General Wickham, representing the government, and former Interior Secretary Fisher, representing the commission. The railroads have a few minutes of rebuttal, which may not be completed tomorrow.

Kirby opened the case by outlining the $226,000 dispute, arising from the commission's order for recapture of one-half of the profits in excess of 6 per cent of the St. Louis and O'Fallon road in southern Illinois. He pointed out this is a pioneer case arising from the recapture clause of the 1920 transportation act. He made it plain that the O'Fallon, and the Manufacturers Railway of St. Louis, both owned by the Busch estate of St. Louis, were attacking the recapture order from every angle. He confined his argument to the contention that the commission should have considered the two roads as a single system, in which case the losses of the manufacturers would absorb the excess of the profitable road.

Wood then struck squarely at the valuation question, which will decide a question of the utmost magnitude. The rates and recaptures both are calculated from the values set for each road, and if the railroads' contention for a valuation based on current reproduction costs were upheld in a test case such as this, the way would be cleared for an increase in aggregate valuation of 10 to 20 billion dollars.

The commission's valuation now aggregates around $25,000,000,000.

HOOVER PARTY PACKS BAGS TO DISEMBARK

U. S. S. Utah, January 3.—(AP.)—In home waters once more, the Hoover party today began the task of packing up in preparation for leaving the battleship Utah Sunday to go ashore at Hampton Roads for their brief railroad journey back to Washington.

The ship's carpenters and sailmakers are literally overrun with orders for boxes and canvas bags for packing the various gifts purchased or received by the president-elect and his party in the different Latin American countries visited during the good-will tour.

Baggage Car for Gifts.

An extra baggage car is to be attached to the special train leaving Old Point Comfort Sunday morning, in order to take care of the gifts received by the Hoovers. Among these are many of almost untold value, such as a gold lace death mask and a piece of lace tapestry dating back before the birth of Christ.

This afternoon, the Utah left the trade wind area and was sailing through almost perfectly calm seas, so that the pitch and roll of the last few days were almost entirely forgotten. A hot tropical sun still is shining, but there was a noticeable lowering in the temperature late in the day.

East of Miami, Fla.

By mid-afternoon today the good-will ship was approximately 975 miles east of Miami, Fla., and 850 miles from Hampton Roads.

The battleship's usual speed of 15 knots an hour was being maintained, and with clear weather the prospect for the remainder of the voyage, the officers definitely predict arrival in Hampton Roads by 8 o'clock Sunday morning.

President-elect Hoover remained on deck most of the day. Mrs. Hoover spent much time standing in the extreme bow, watching the steel prow cut through the water, or gazing toward the distant horizon beyond which lie the Virginia roadstead and home. During the morning the president-elect strolled on the forecastle deck and after luncheon he took his usual nap, later spending some time in personal correspondence and reading.

Mr. Hoover is still adhering to his decision against considering the affairs of his administration until he reaches Washington.

portation act. He made it plain that the O'Fallon, and the Manufacturers Railway of St. Louis, both owned by the Busch estate of St. Louis, were attacking the recapture order from every angle. He confined his argument to the contention that the commission should have considered the two roads as a single system, in which case the losses of the manufacturers would absorb the excess of the profitable road.

Wood then struck squarely at the valuation question, which will decide a question of the utmost magnitude. The rates and recaptures both are calculated from the values set for each road, and if the railroads' contention for a valuation based on current reproduction costs were upheld in a test case such as this, the way would be cleared for an increase in aggregate valuation of 10 to 20 billion dollars.

The commission's valuation now aggregates around $25,000,000,000.

BARRETT TO REMAIN WITH FARMERS' UNION

Veteran Leader Tells Friends He Will Consider No Political Office.

Charles S. Barrett, for 24 years president of the National Farmers' union, will continue actively associated with that organization's leadership as "president-emeritus" for the remainder of his life and will not be open now or at any future time to consider any political office, either elective or appointive.

Mr. Barrett made this clear to friends at the Ansley hotel Thursday noon following an address made before the City club.

The veteran farm leader definitely vetoed a proposal of friends here Thursday to boom him for secretary of agriculture in the Hoover cabinet. He was here on his way back to Washington from Point Peter, where he entertained President Coolidge and his party during their trip to the Georgia coast.

"I am convinced now as I have been for the last 24 years that I can serve the farmer more effectively as an executive of the Farmers' union than in any political post where political expediency might handicap me in working and fighting for his interests," Mr. Barrett declared to friends.

Mr. Barrett disclosed that the National Farmers' union had passed the billion dollar mark in the total of its cooperative buying, selling and insurance transactions for its 600,000 members during 1928, his twenty-fourth successive year as its president. The 1928 total, he said, was $1,197,000,000 as compared to approximately $850,000,000 for 1927.

The farm problem, he declared, is fundamentally a business problem and however helpful outside farm relief may be, its ultimate solution must be found by the farmer himself.

through cooperative marketing organization.

Following his refusal of a twenty-fifth consecutive term as president, at the last national convention, Mr. Barrett accepted election for life to a new post created for him in which he is to designate his own duties and his own title.

In his address before the City club, Mr. Barrett told many of the interesting and amusing details of his work with the union and at the same time graphically recounted the growth of that organization.

One of the things which he stressed was the fact that the union and farmers it represents are not looking for radical legislation which will give them "something for nothing" but merely want legislation which will put them on an equal competitive basis with other industries.

He expressed the belief that the worst is over for the farmers of Georgia and of the middle west and that 1929 will see them sharing in the prosperity that seems certain to visit the entire business world.

Growing demand for development of Candler field makes completion of this project one of utmost importance, states William B. Hartsfield, chairman of the aviation committee of city council, who will retire January 7 from council. Mr. Hartsfield's successor will be named by Mayor I. N. Rogstad when he selects new committees to act during 1929.

"I find a popular demand for the improvement of the airport," he said, "among the citizens there is, however, some misunderstanding as to the operation of the field. There is an impression that the city has invested money in hardware which the operators are using free. Nothing could be further from the truth. The city has spent its money upon the ground and the lighting system, and the operators have built the hangars and they pay the city an annual charge for the use of the ground space.

When the city and county today is the

STORK KEEPS IN LEAD OF REAPER IN FULTON

The stork kept ahead of the grim reaper in Fulton county during 1928, according to the annual report of T. E. Lockhart, chief of the county department of quarantine and sanitation, made Thursday to the Fulton county board of health. A total of 643 births was reported, while the number of deaths was 491.

Figures compiled by Chief Lockhart show that pneumonia led the list of illnesses causing deaths during the year in the county. There were 61 deaths from pneumonia, 29 from tuberculosis, and 16 from influenza according to the report. Diphtheria and scarlet fever each caused three deaths, measles caused five, while septicaemia, pertussis and malaria each caused two.

A total of 674 cases of influenza was reported for the year, while there were 137 cases of pneumonia. Measles came third, with 100 cases. Other cases of illness reported were: Diphtheria, 37; scarlet fever, 70; smallpox, 29; typhoid fever, 25; tuberculosis, 68; septicaemia, 11; whooping cough, 96; pellagra, 4; and malaria, 6.

Eight thousand one hundred and forty-eight children were examined by the school physician, and of this number, 6,131 were found to have a total of $170 defects. The school nurse made 3,355 follow-up visits, and 470 children were treated at clinics.

P. T. A. TO SEEK RELIEF IN SCHOOL CONGESTION

Organization's Council Will Strive To Prevent Discred-iting of Local Institutions.

One of the most vigorous "personal campaigns" ever conducted in Atlanta will be waged by a special committee from the Atlanta Parent-Teacher council in an effort to secure appropriations from city council to relieve congested conditions in junior and senior high schools and thus prevent them from being stricken from the accredited list of the Southern Association of Colleges. If Atlanta schools are taken from the list, all students from this city will be forced to stand examinations before being admitted to accredited institutions of higher learning.

Decision to wage the fight in behalf of the schools was made at a meeting of the council held Thursday morning at the Ansley hotel. The committee was named and after a session held during the afternoon, it was decided to interview all members of council and Mayor J. N. Ragsdale with a view of obtaining sufficient funds to relieve the congestion.

Warning From Association.
The college association has warned the city that Atlanta schools will be stricken from the accredited list unless relief measures are provided at once.

Mrs. Henry Bauer, author of a resolution expressing concern over the threat of being dropped from the list, was named chairman of the committee.

Thursday night Mrs. Bauer declared that the committee will function in a personal way but will be diligent and vigorous in its efforts to get necessary relief.

"We feel it would be almost criminal to place the Atlanta school system in jeopardy by having it stricken from the accredited list," Mrs. Bauer said. "We must not lose what we have fought for during the past years. It would be one of the worst pieces of unfavorable publicity Atlanta could get and members of the Parent-Teacher organization are going to do all within their power to obtain sufficient funds to keep Atlanta on the list."

Members of Committee.

Other members of the committee are Mrs. R. E. Jones, president of the Commercial High School association; Mrs. Wayne E. Kell, of the Girls' High school; Mrs. Leo Suderth, of Tech High; Mrs. H. C. Park, president of the Parent-Teacher council; Mrs. D. C. Shepherd, of O'Keefe Junior high; Mrs. George Price, of Bass; Mrs. J. E. Jackson, of Smith; Mrs. George Powell, Mrs. Ed McDonald, Mrs. George Howson and Mrs. Charles Foster, past presidents of the council.

The council at its session Thursday passed resolutions of thanks to the mayor and city council for banning the sale of large fireworks in Atlanta during the holiday season. It also expressed the hope that the legislature will forbid the sale of them within the state.

School Plantings.
R. R. Ritchie, head of business department, brought to council at request of Mrs. George W. Powell, the planting plans and blueprints for the

PERHAPS YOU CAN'T AVOID CROWDS BUT YOU CAN HELP AVOID INFLUENZA

To keep free from influenza the Surgeon General warns against mingling with crowds, especially against coming in direct contact with persons who are coughing or sneezing. Walk to work if possible—the exercise will do you good. Do not use unsterilized towels or napkins. Keep your hands away from the mouth and face. Wash them regularly before each meal. Use plenty of fresh water inside and out. The frequent and continued use of Vapex has become the standby of many whose common sense tells them to take all proper precautionary measures. Vapex will keep you free from colds and will stop a cold at the start. It is used widely by those who must ride in the subways, the buses, etc. Put a drop on your handkerchief—breathe the vapor. The odor is pleasant. Use it frequently, especially while in crowded places. This ounce of prevention may save you many days of serious illness. Get Vapex from your druggist in the little square bottle and the package with the green triangle.

Whiteside Brings 'The Royal Box' Here January 17

Walker Whiteside, distinguished American actor, who now is playing the last week of his successful engagement in New York in his new play, "The Royal Box," will bring this New York company to Atlanta to appear here in a three-day engagement beginning January 17. It was announced Thursday by Lewis Haase, manager of the Erlanger theater.

"The Royal Box" with Mr. Whiteside will be one of a series of road productions which will be offered in Atlanta during the time the Charles L. Wagner Players are appearing in Birmingham. The first of the attractions will be "The Shanghai Gesture," with one of New York's most sensational successes, which will fill a three-day engagement beginning Thursday, January 10. Mrs. Leslie Carter, one of America's foremost actresses, will play the leading role.

Mr. Whiteside's new vehicle is a comedy and is enjoying great success in New York and received the unusual honor of being praised by nearly all the leading critics of that city, according to a message received by Mr. Haase from C. H. Brown, prominent New York theatrical man.

"Walker Whiteside is now playing the last week of his engagement at the Erlanger theater in New York," Mr. Haase stated. "The Royal Box" is as fine a comedy as can be seen on Broadway and that Mr. Whiteside is doing the finest acting of his career."

The Wagner Players, headed by Miss Leneta Lane and Kenneth Thomson, will present "Paris Bound" in performance Friday and Saturday night and Saturday matinee. The play and the company have won great public favor in this, their first vehicle of the winter and evening engagement. The company will go to Birmingham next week and will present "Paris Bound" at the Erlanger theater there one week. They will open the following week in "The Torch Bearers" and after it is given in Birmingham for one week it will be brought to Atlanta the following week.

HENRY GRADY HOTEL ENDS SPLENDID YEAR

The Henry Grady hotel has just finished the most successful year of its history. It was opened in November, 1924, according to figures made public Thursday by J. F. de Jarnette, manager, who said that the hotel entertained 190,417 guests during 1928. The year just ended was the first under which the hotel operated with its full capacity, as it was built in sections, the first unit being opened in 1924. It is one of the largest and handsomest hotels in the south and the record of 1928 on the number of guests entertained is one of the best shown by any southern hotel.

Beginning Thursday the hotel added the innovation of a radio receiving set in every room in the hotel, this improvement being finished Thursday.

"The business of the hotel is a reflection of the soundness of business conditions in this part of the south," Mr. de Jarnette said. "The fact that the hotel broke all previous records during a so-called presidential year, we feel is a good sign of Atlanta's prosperity as well as of that of the hotel."

The Henry Grady Hotel company operates the hotel, which was built on the site formerly occupied by the mansion of the governor of Georgia and which is named in honor of Henry Woodfin Grady, famous editor of The Constitution, who died in 1889.

SYLVAN HILLS MEETING
Judge Jesse Wood To Speak at Gathering Tonight.

An address by Judge Jesse Woods, of the city court, reorganization of the club and election of officers for the coming year will feature a meeting of the Sylvan Hills Improvement club to be held tonight at the clubhouse on Decker avenue, Sylvan Hills.

At 7 o'clock, preceding the meeting, a free banquet will be given, during which several entertainment features will be offered, including in these will be singing by John McCord, the Scotch basso, from Marietta, playing by Cecil White's Hawaiian trio and solo by Ralph Richardson, known as the "Blind Singer."

Charles William Hubner, Noted Southern Poet, Dies

BY RALPH T. JONES.
There is a change which death we call,
Which all things living doth befall.
Except man's soul—this wondrous change
Which comes to us, it seems so strange.
Awfully strange! for you and me,
But wait—Death solves the mystery."

Charles William Hubner, poet laureate of the south, solved the mystery of which he wrote in the lines quoted above, when he died, early Thursday morning, at the residence, 730 Catherine street, S. W. Mr. Hubner was 93 years old.

Mr. Hubner's latest published work was "Poems of Faith and Consolation," which came from the press in December, 1927. It is prefaced by a tribute to Mr. Hubner, in verse, from the pen of the late Frank L. Stanton.

Mr. Hubner was named poet laureate of the south in 1928, by the Poetry Society of the South and a biographical sketch and tribute was published at that time in the American Journal of Poetry.

Beginning writing verse at the age of ten, Mr. Hubner's first published poem appeared in "The Star Spangled Banner," a Boston weekly, when he was 13 years old.

He was a native of Baltimore, the son of John Adam and Margaret Hubner, and received his early education in the schools of that city. He studied music under Professor Weierhauser, of the University of Munich, and learned the rudiments of drawing and painting under a former University of Goettingen instructor. In 1852 he was taken by his mother to Germany, where he spent six years studying music, literature, art and the languages.

He was a teacher of music at the Tennessee Female academy, in Fayetteville, Tenn., when he was between the states broke out and he immediately joined the Confederate army, serving throughout the war and taking part in many of the most important battles of the four-year conflict. At the battle of Atlanta he was major in charge of the telegraph corps of the southern forces.

He lived in Atlanta from 1870 until his death. He engaged in editorial work and literary composition, serving as editor of The American and as associate librarian of the Young Men's Library association. Later he held a position in the Carnegie library until 1919.

Of the eleven books he published, not all consist of poetry. He published a scholarly work, "Historical Souvenirs of Luther," in 1880, and "Modern Communism," in 1906. His "Representative Southern Poets," which was published in 1906, was used as a textbook in many schools.

He enjoyed the friendship of many of the leading figures in the literary world, including Charles Edmund Steadman, Whittier, Longfellow, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Thomas Ames, Alexander Stephens, Joel Chandler Harris, Frank L. Stanton, Sidney Lanier and many others.

He often recalled witnessing the burial of Edgar Allan Poe. Mr. Hubner's wife died on December 17, 1927, and he had lived with his daughter, Miss Rose E. Hubner, since the death of his wife. He was survived by two sons, W. Whitney Hubner, of Atlanta, and Carl S. Hubner, of San Francisco.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon from the Central Presbyterian church. The Rev. J. M. Harvey, associate pastor, will conduct the services and interment will be in Oaklawn cemetery.

London, January 3.—(R)—King George had a fair day after experiencing a restless night and there was no change to report in his condition when the evening medical bulletin was issued at 8 p. m. While this was not in itself as encouraging as had been expected by the public, it was considered favorable, an official statement which took into account a rather optimistic review of the case furnished to the two leading medical journals of the country for publication tomorrow.

"The king's will to live is there," said the palace physicians in this review and they added that, though his improvement is slow, it is definite enough to justify hope for his ultimate restoration to health.

The official review of the sickness showed that his majesty was taking adequate nourishment, that his blood condition had been greatly improved and that his exhaustion was as much weariness of the mind as of the body.

It was also noted tonight that the visits of the physicians at the palace and their consultations were becoming briefer daily. This was pointed out as showing a revival of medical confidence in the patient's recuperative power. Tonight, for instance, the bulletin was issued earlier than usual, the consultation having lasted only one hour. The bulletin was again in one sentence, as follows: "The king had a fair day and there is no change to report in his majesty's condition."

Signers of this bulletin were the regular trio, Lord Dawson of Penn., Sir Stanley Hewitt, and Sir Hugh Riggall.

Drs. Wood and Howitt, the ultra-violet ray experts, were again in attendance on the king. They resumed their treatment this evening.

MAIL FLIER KYTLE ADDS MATRIMONY TO LIFE'S HAZARDS

Johany Kytile, popular air mail pilot of the Pitcairn forces and veteran of a hundred aerial battles, including a tussle with Stone Mountain, added matrimony as one of his daily hazards Thursday afternoon, when he was wedded to Miss Jane Pauk at her home, 1130 Virginia avenue. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. K. Hutto in the presence of the families and a few close friends. Johany, intrepid veteran of the air, who has safely weathered storms and fogs, done hair-raising stunts and made hundreds of flights as a messenger of Uncle Sam, recently confessed to his friends that all these thrills had begun to pall on him and he was soon to brave the dangers of wedded life. But the mail must go on and the bridegroom, following the wedding, announced that he and his charming bride would establish their "home field" in Hapeville immediately and there would be no honeymoon at present for he is to wing his way out on his regular mail run tonight, leaving his newly acquired wife housed in her new "hangar."

MILLER PAROLE IS DISAPPROVED BY U. S. OFFICIAL

Washington, January 3.—(R)—Attorney General Sargent today disapproved a recommendation by the parole board that Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, be paroled from the Atlanta prison. The attorney general did not explain his reasons for disapproving the recommendation. Miller was sentenced to 18 months after his conviction in March, 1927, in New York, on charges of defrauding the government of his honest and unbiased services in connection with his handling of funds as alien property custodian.

SEE LITTLE HOPE FOR FARM RELIEF AT THIS SESSION

Washington, January 3.—(R)—A belief that there is little prospect of enactment of farm relief legislation by the house at this session was expressed to President Coolidge today by Chairman Snell of the house rules committee.

Mr. Snell, whose committee largely determines the order in which legislation comes before the house, said the president made no comment on his statement.

Republican leaders in both house and senate are at odds as to whether farm legislation should be considered now or held over until the Hoover administration takes office. In the senate, Senator McNary, of Oregon, hopes to have passed his revised bill, with the disputed equalization fee eliminated, would set up cooperating agencies to assist farmers. The measure has been endorsed by Secretary Jardine.

Mr. Hubner was named poet laureate of the south in 1928, by the Poetry Society of the South and a biographical sketch and tribute was published at that time in the American Journal of Poetry.

Beginning writing verse at the age of ten, Mr. Hubner's first published poem appeared in "The Star Spangled Banner," a Boston weekly, when he was 13 years old.

He was a native of Baltimore, the son of John Adam and Margaret Hubner, and received his early education in the schools of that city. He studied music under Professor Weierhauser, of the University of Munich, and learned the rudiments of drawing and painting under a former University of Goettingen instructor. In 1852 he was taken by his mother to Germany, where he spent six years studying music, literature, art and the languages.

He was a teacher of music at the Tennessee Female academy, in Fayetteville, Tenn., when he was between the states broke out and he immediately joined the Confederate army, serving throughout the war and taking part in many of the most important battles of the four-year conflict. At the battle of Atlanta he was major in charge of the telegraph corps of the southern forces.

He lived in Atlanta from 1870 until his death. He engaged in editorial work and literary composition, serving as editor of The American and as associate librarian of the Young Men's Library association. Later he held a position in the Carnegie library until 1919.

Of the eleven books he published, not all consist of poetry. He published a scholarly work, "Historical Souvenirs of Luther," in 1880, and "Modern Communism," in 1906. His "Representative Southern Poets," which was published in 1906, was used as a textbook in many schools.

He enjoyed the friendship of many of the leading figures in the literary world, including Charles Edmund Steadman, Whittier, Longfellow, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Thomas Ames, Alexander Stephens, Joel Chandler Harris, Frank L. Stanton, Sidney Lanier and many others.

He often recalled witnessing the burial of Edgar Allan Poe. Mr. Hubner's wife died on December 17, 1927, and he had lived with his daughter, Miss Rose E. Hubner, since the death of his wife. He was survived by two sons, W. Whitney Hubner, of Atlanta, and Carl S. Hubner, of San Francisco.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon from the Central Presbyterian church. The Rev. J. M. Harvey, associate pastor, will conduct the services and interment will be in Oaklawn cemetery.

TICKET SALE PLEASES AUTO SHOW OFFICIALS

Big Southeastern Exhibition
Scheduled To Open in Two Weeks.

With the big southeastern automobile show less than two weeks distant and with plans completed for the most elaborate display of gorgeous new models ever held in this section, Foster B. Steward, director, reported Thursday that never in his experience in commercial show promoting had he encountered such widespread dealer and public interest as that being evidenced in the forthcoming Atlanta event.

Twenty-five young Atlanta women are busily engaged in a ticket sales contest that is said to be the hottest ever staged in connection with a local automobile show. Even though there are twenty-five in competition, those in first and last place might change rank overnight, so close is the competition.

To date the sales of tickets has eclipsed that of the entire show of last year, attendance of which was approximately 25,000, and which was the most successful automobile show ever held in the southeast.

With the above reports at hand, officials in charge of the 1929 show predict that it will set a new record both in attendance and sales.

Following is the standing of the contestants to date:

Miss Hattie Dowling, 1606 Emory road, first; Miss Perle Brodie, 187 Inman circle, second; Mrs. Jessie Mae Bell, 457 Glenwood avenue, N. E., third; and Miss Lula Bates, 234 Second avenue, fourth.

Other contestants include: Mrs. George V. Austin, 356 North Moreland avenue; Mrs. O. T. Donard, 561 Moreland avenue, S. E.; Mrs. Senborn J. Jordan, 388 Boulevard, N. E., apartment 1; Mrs. T. P. McCain, 231 West Mercer avenue, College Park, Ga.; Miss Jane Adams, Norcross; Miss Vera Campbell, Austell; Mrs. Jim Hill, 1203 Lucile avenue; Miss Ethel Lloyd, 1428 Gordon street, W. E.; Miss Elsie Levkoff, 651 Jackson street; Miss Pauline E. Blanc, 521 Terrace avenue, N. E.

Teeth Swallowed.

Asserting that he believed himself to be suffering from the effects of swallowing two false teeth about five weeks ago, A. M. Hooten, 48, of 432 Fair street, Thursday reported to Grady hospital for treatment. An examination failed to reveal the missing molars and he was sent home.

Missing School Girl Reappears

GIRL WHO VANISHED FOUND TIED, DAZED

was late leaving home and unless I got a ride was certain to have been late for school.

When she got in the car the driver started in the right direction to the Hoke Smith school, she said, but later turned off his course. She then asked why she was being taken off the right road and the old man countered by placing a handkerchief filled with a drug over her face, she said.

"When I came to it must have been about 3:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon," Miss Turner said. "The old man was in the room with me but made no effort to harm me. I was in a small one-room shack, with no window and no light coming in except through cracks in the walls and through the door sills."

When the "old man with the cane" reached the deserted hut it developed he didn't need the cane nor was he so old, the girl said. He dispensed with the cane and straightened out the hump in his shoulders, she added.

Her captor asked her if she wanted some food, she said, but she refused, fearing that there might be a drug in the victuals.

Writes Note to Parents.
"The old man then ordered me to test a sheet from my school notebook and write the note which was mailed to my mother," Miss Turner said. "I wrote as he dictated including the part which said that I was being treated kindly."

Miss Turner said she did not know who mailed the note to her mother. It arrived at the Turner home, special delivery, Wednesday night and told how she had been kidnapped earlier in the day, the same story told by the girl when she had regained her composure at home.

"After penning the note I remained on the bed they had placed me."

she said. "It was a hard pallet with a scrawny mattress and only one blanket. The old man stayed out of the room most of the time and sometimes I could hear him talking with another man."

Miss Turner said she heard the old man making threats to kill her, while the other man urged that he take her back to Atlanta, because "they are getting pretty hot over her disappearance."

Says She Was Bound.
Miss Turner said she was kept prisoner in the hut all night. She slept little, she said, hoping for a chance to escape. The chance never came. She was bound, hand and foot, and a handkerchief was tied over her mouth most of the time, she said.

Late Wednesday night she said her captor again asked her if she desired food.

"I was deathly hungry and told him that if he would give me a hard-boiled egg I would eat it," she said.

"He went out of the shack and returned a little while later with the egg, which I ate. The egg was the only food I have had since I left home early yesterday morning."

Miss Turner said the two men bundled her into the motor car, a small sedan early Thursday night, put a cloth over her eyes, tied her hands and feet and also put the handkerchief over her mouth.

"I do not know the direction we took to return to Atlanta nor just what direction from the filling station they dumped me out," she said.

"We must have come through the downtown section of the city because I could hear the bells of the traffic signals and we stopped several times within a few minutes, probably to let other cars pass at street intersections."

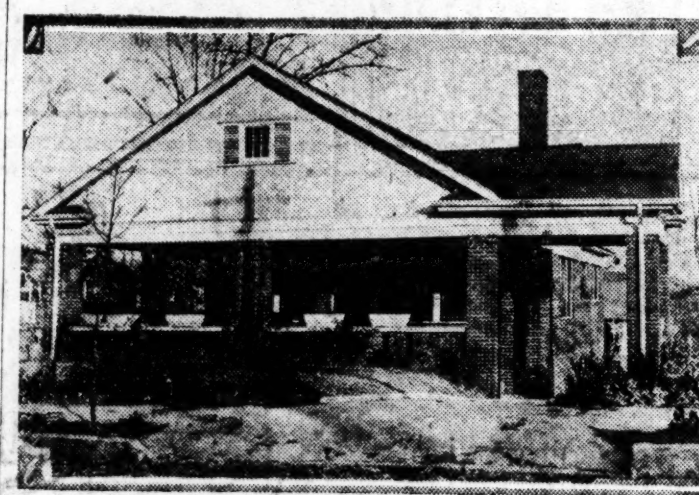

Put Out of Car.
Miss Turner said it must have been about 5:30 when she was put out of the car for it was already dark. She said she saw lights in the direction of Lee street and though her legs were tied together at the ankles she was able to slowly make her way to the thoroughfare.

When found by Mr. Moss, Miss Turner was carried into the filling station where she revealed her identity and then collapsed.

Mr. Moss called the Turner home. Neighbors rushed to the filling station in a motor car and brought her to her parents' home.

Doris was found less than three hours after her father had offered a reward of $500 for information concerning her whereabouts. However,

Home of Doris Turner

Home of Miss Doris Turner, 16-year-old Atlanta high school student, who is reported to have been kidnapped Wednesday and released late Thursday afternoon by her abductor. It is located at Delmar and Boulevard streets, S. E. The route which Miss Turner usually took from her home, indicated by the figure "1," to the Hoke Smith Junior High school, where she was a student and which is indicated by figure "2," was traced through Grant park by Oscar Turner, brother of the girl, for The Constitution. It is shown below the home. Miss Turner, who lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Turner, said that she entered the auto of the "old man with a cane" just as she entered Grant park.

Mr. Turner said Thursday night that he did not intend to pay the reward to Mr. Moss inasmuch as the girl was not found by him, but merely assisted in getting her home after she had been released by her alleged abductors.

Mr. Turner was vehement in discussing the case.

"If I ever get my hands on the man who kidnapped my child there won't be any need for a trial," he said.

Miss Turner was under the care of a physician late Thursday night. She had almost regained her composure and it is believed will suffer little from her experience except from the lack of food for two days.

The return of Miss Turner brought a joyful scene at the home. Father, mother, brothers and sister crowded around to hear her tell the story. The girl immediately was put to bed and on the care of the family's physician will be kept there for several days.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified croscote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs croscote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to croscote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the croscote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germ. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if it is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

GIRL SETS ENDURANCE RECORD IN TINY PLANE

Los Angeles Flier Stays in Air for 12 Hours and 11
Minutes.

Los Angeles, January 3.—(AP)—An 18-year-old Los Angeles girl aviator stepped into the limelight today holding a new endurance flight record for women. She is Miss Bobbie Trout, who maneuvered a tiny plane above Los Angeles yesterday for 12 hours and 11 minutes.

Miss Trout's record breaking flight, which eclipsed that of 8 hours and 6 minutes made in New York December 20 by Viola Gentry, ended at 6:36 p. m. when she made a graceful night landing at Metropolitan airport and did a neat job of keeping away from a crowd of admirers who swarmed onto the field to welcome her.

As she was about to land, floodlights revealed to Miss Trout that she might have trouble in keeping her plane clear of the crowd. She circled and landed at the far edge of the lighted zone and taxied back in the direction of her welcome but wheeled about again as they broke through police lines and shut down her motor the instant the plane came to a stop, thus winning applause of the seasoned fliers.

Her first thought was of food. "I feel fine," she said as she jumped out of the plane to greet her mother. "I could go to a dance. But let's get through with these cameramen so I can eat, I'm ravenous."

Miss Trout had but one and one-half gallons of gasoline in her plane when she landed. She took off with 55 gallons and announced that she would stay up until fuel shortage forced her to descend.

Upon landing the daring girl, who has about 150 flying hours to her credit, received the plaudits of the crew of the Question Mark, army endurance plane which also is circling over the Metropolitan field at intervals in its flight. She was given a congratulatory message dropped from the Question Mark shortly before.

It said: "Crew of Question Mark sends warmest congratulations to woman endurance flier. We saw her ship this afternoon and hope she will set a high record for others to climb for."

The message was signed by Major Carl Spatz, commanding the Question Mark.

MACON BANDITS MUM ON PAST OPERATIONS

Macon, Ga., January 3.—(AP)—Finger prints, photographs and lie-tell measurements of the two bandit suspects who were arrested yesterday have been sent to Atlanta and many other cities. It was learned at police headquarters today. The men under arrest gave the names of Joe H. Harris and Fred Thomas, but the police believe that they are covering up their real identity.

Chief Ben T. Watkins said that the description of two young bandits who operated in Atlanta a few days ago tallies with the description of those under arrest.

Awaiting their further identification and developments the two young men were taken to the county jail today after failing to give bond in the sum of $5,000 on a charge of larceny of an automobile, which they admit stealing.

NANKING REGIME CHANGES PEKIN NAME TO PEPING

Peking, China, January 3.—(United News).—The Nanking government post office department has changed the name of the ancient city of Peking, which is now known as Peking. The name Peking signified "northern capital" and the nationalist government did not wish that meaning to be applied to the city from which northern armies had been driven.

At first the spelling adopted was Peiping, pronounced "Bay Ping" and meaning "northern peace." It was later ruled that Peking would be correct.

Government officials have been tolerant about the use of the name and letters and cables addressed to Peking are still delivered, although regulations provide that they should be addressed to Peiping.

BUCKLAND ELECTED New Haven Railroad Raises First Vice President.

New York, January 3.—(AP)—Edward G. Buckland today was elected chairman of the board of directors of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad.

It was announced that he would have the authority and power to perform the duties of president of the railroad until a president is selected. Edward J. Pearson, former president of the road, died recently at Baltimore.

Mr. Buckland has been connected with the New Haven system in various capacities for a number of years, and has been its vice president.

others will then take up the argument. The debate may last several weeks.

Senator Blaine, Wisconsin republican, served notice early in the afternoon he will join forces with opponents of the treaty by introducing a resolution proposing to state the senate's disagreement with the colony protection principle outlined by Great Britain in its treaty correspondence.

Attack on England.
"If America adheres to the treaty," he said, "then we legalize Great Britain's dominion in all the world and we acknowledge that less than 50,000,000 subjects in Great Britain shall have the right to rule over 400,000,000 people without their consent and against their protest."

He will probably discuss this resolution at length later. Reservation proposals introduced by Senator Moses, New Hampshire republican, must also be considered before a vote is taken on the treaty itself.

Once the treaty is out of the way, the cruiser bill, which Hale by his agreement with Borah consented to sidetrack temporarily, will become the business before the senate.

Speaking on the navy bill today, Hale said its passage at this session of congress is necessary to preserve the United States' prestige among the nations of the world. He said it was not a building program designed to compete with that of Great Britain or any other nation but merely a measure necessary to adequate defense.

He pointed out that even with the 15 cruisers built this country would be behind Great Britain in naval strength.

EMORY ALUMNI PLAN CHARTER DAY DINNERS

60 Groups in Various Parts of County To Assemble
January 25.

More than 60 groups of Emory alumni on January 25 will gather at banquets in various cities of the United States for the celebration of Emory Charter day, simultaneously with the main gathering of alumni in Atlanta at the Ansley hotel, where Ivy Lee, internationally known publicist of New York, will be the principal speaker.

cast the speeches of Mr. Lee and Dr. Harvey W. Cox, president of Emory, directly following the banquet from 9:30 until 10:30 o'clock will give the widespread alumni gatherings the opportunity of coming into direct touch with the celebration in Atlanta.

Charter day on January 25 will celebrate the fourteenth year since the granting of the charter to Emory university by the Fulton county superior court, and the ninety-third anniversary of the founding of Emory college. This will be the third general celebration of the event.

Ivy Ledbetter Lee, the principal speaker for the Atlanta banquet and the radio program, is a pioneer in the field of public relations. He now is counselor to John D. Rockefeller, the Standard Oil company, Charles M. Schwab, the Bethlehem Steel corporation, the Pennsylvania railroad, and other large enterprises. He is the author of several books.

Although a graduate of Princeton, Mr. Lee is intimately connected with Emory as a member of the class of 1897. He attended Emory college for two years prior to his work at Princeton.

Charles B. Shelton, president of the Atlanta Emory alumni chapter, is in charge of the arrangement for the Atlanta dinner. The other dinners are under the supervision of Joe P. Fagan, of Atlanta.

Arrangements with WSB to broadcast the speeches of Mr. Lee and Dr. Cox, president of Emory, directly following the banquet from 9:30 until 10:30 o'clock will give the widespread alumni gatherings the opportunity of coming into direct touch with the celebration in Atlanta.

Local members to attend include Basil Stockbridge, commander of Atlanta Post No. 1; James S. Morrison, adjutant; Frank Kempton, state vice commander; Harry Wallerstein, fifth district commander; Frank Haas, national vice commander of the Forty and Eight society; Judge J. G. C. Bloodworth, state service officer; Julius Setz, of the local Veterans' bureau; and Edward C. Cavin, state child welfare officer of the legion.

ATLANTA BILTMORE TO HOLD CONCERTS ON SUNDAY NIGHTS

Inauguration of a series of musical concerts to be held at 9 o'clock each Sunday night in the Georgian ballroom will be featured at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel Sunday night, it was announced Thursday. Music lovers of the city are invited to be the guests of the management on these occasions.

Victor engineers, in cooperation with the Radio Corporation of America, have built a reproducing instrument in the ballroom at a cost said to exceed $15,000. The instrument is similar to one recently installed in the social hall of the Levee. The Sunday night program will include selections by the Philadelphia Symphony orchestra; by Laurence Tibbett, Rosa Ponselle, Gigli, and others.

AUTO TAG BUREAU TO OBSERVE LONGER HOURS SATURDAY

The motor vehicle bureau at the state capitol will remain open until 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon instead of closing at noon as in the past, it was announced Thursday. The extra three hours will be devoted to the sale of automobile license tags for 1935.

More than 8,000 license tags were sold Wednesday and brought revenues of approximately $95,000. The mail order department issued 5,000 tags with fees amounting to $40,000, while 3,000 tags were sold over the counter for revenues of $25,000.

SUIT FOR $50,000 FILED BY MOTHER OF AUTO VICTIM

A suit for $50,000 damages for the death of her son, Everett L. Crawford, in the gasoline truck-motor bus crash at Ponce de Leon avenue and East Lake drive on last Monday was filed in city court of Atlanta Thursday by Mrs. J. J. Crawford against the Gulf Refining company, D. C. Banks, driver of the truck, J. H. Green, driver of the motor-bus, and Winn Motor Lines, Inc., Newport Estates and H. W. Pierce, set out as operators of the Atlanta-Athens bus line. Crawford died as the result of injuries received while riding in the motor bus, the petition alleges. The plaintiff charges that the gasoline truck driver started down the slight incline at a speed of 30 miles an hour and skidded into the motor bus, and that Green, driver of the bus, did see or should have seen the truck coming toward the sedan.

HOWARD MCCALL'S CONDITION TERMED AS "VERY CRITICAL"

Describing his condition as "unchanged," doctors at Wesley Memorial hospital late Wednesday said that Howard H. McCall, Sr., well-known Atlanta business man, ill since Sunday, was in a "very critical" condition as the result of an emergency operation performed Sunday.

Mr. McCall is a prominent figure in business, civic, religious and social life of Atlanta.

WAYWARD PARENTS HIT BY METHODIST EDITOR

Divorce Complex Ought To Be Corrected, Gratz Tells Conference.

Evanston, Ill., January 3.—(A)—The Methodist Episcopal world service conference was told by E. J. Gratz, editor of the Epworth Herald, that the greatest problems facing young people today are wayward parents and the divorce complex.

"A boy and a girl will plunge into marriage with the idea in mind that if they don't hit it off properly, there is a divorce just around the corner," he said. "That is a complex that should be corrected."

Despite the poor example set by "synopating grandparents and fast stepping parents," however, he felt that young people are growing better and better each day.

"Many young men and women are more moral than their parents," he declared. "Much of the recklessness of youth today can be blamed on the poor examples set by grandparents and parents."

An appeal by the Rev. Charles A. Brashers, of Dayton, Ohio, to humanize Methodism was answered by Dr. Ralph E. Diffendorfer, of New York, conference chairman.

"That is one of our chief aims," he said. "We are doing it through our hospitals and personal services in the foreign missionary field."

JOINT INSTALLATION Two Lodges of Railway Con- ductors Meet Saturday.

A joint installation of officers of Atlanta division, No. 180, and Georgia division, No. 457, Order of Railway Conductors and ladies' auxiliaries of the order, will be held at 7:30 o'clock Saturday night on the Ansley hotel roof garden, it was announced Thursday.

J. O. Hargis has been selected as grand installing officer and Y. R. Norris will be grand marshal for installation of officers of the two lodges of conductors. Mrs. J. O. Hargis will act as grand president and will be installing officer for the ladies' auxiliaries.

GOV. L. G. HARDMAN IS RECUPERATING AT HOME FROM FLU

Governor L. G. Hardman has recovered from an attack of influenza but is recuperating at his home and is not taking any chance on having a relapse of the disease, hence he did not visit his office Thursday, it was announced at the capitol.

The governor has given no statement, one way or the other, relative to calling an extra session of the legislature. During the last few days many state senators and members of the legislature have visited the executive offices to obtain information concerning an extra session but have not received anything definite regarding the governor's plans, they stated.

Excavations Disclose Zion, City of David, and Citadel Of Ophel To Be One Place

Biblical History Proven by Uncovering of Relics Dating Back to Great Ruler and Poet.

Jerusalem, January 3.—(United News.)—Sixty years labor at Mount Ophel has laid bare today the Biblical city of Zion, "the fair place" which inspired King David to some of the greatest passages in Old Testament literature.

Revelation that Ophel and the famous citadel captured by the armies of the "giant killer" 3,000 years ago are identical has vindicated the literal accuracy of ancient Israelite historians and solved one of the chief problems of Biblical topography, leaders of the Palestine exploration fund expedition assert.

Sir George Adam Smith now considers that the whole back road bounded by the Kidron and Tyropoeon valleys is the "City of David" about which there have been continual controversy and other modern experts agree with him. The explorations, started in 1867, were temporarily abandoned and renewed five years ago.

David, the delicate, ambitious youth who followed the armies of King Saul against the Philistines, who killed the giant Goliath and who rose to rulership over Israel, made the city of Zion outstanding in his kingdom. Probably this was because of his difficulty in capturing the Jebusite city. "Except thou take away the blind and lame thou shalt not come in hither," cried the defenders of the city to David, taunting the Israelite armies from the impregnable walls, which they believed even the lame and blind could defend against an army. "Whoever goeth up by the water course and smiteth the Jebusites—and the lame and the blind that are hated of David's soul, he shall be the chief of the captain," King David announced to his discouraged armies.

"So, Joab went up first, and was chief—David took the stronghold of Zion and dwelt in the castle; wherefore they called it the City of David," the story continues, telling the success of Joab in defending his right to leadership of the armies against the king's offer to replace him by the man who first entered the city.

The water course was difficult and treacherous, leading through a cave and up into the city at the well where the besieged population drew water. Joab led his picked soldiers into the city.

In later years the citadel was repaired by Solomon, Hezekiah and probably Nebuchadnezzar, but the historical Josephus recorded that Simon Maccabees swept the surface of the citadel because it towered above and threatened the present city. One wall of this citadel or fort which was standing when David's armies captured it about 1000 B. C., and part of the city uncovered. Excavators have been able to fit in the details of Nehemiah's description and to locate the various other outstanding points of topography in the City of David.

Midway between two bastions of the older tower of David has been uncovered—Hebrew masonry of the best and earliest sort. Spiral bastions of more than 20 feet in depth—probably the stairway leading to the water gate Nehemiah described—have been revealed.

"We can picture in our mind's eye what a magnificent sight this tower of David's time must have presented," said the Rev. J. Garraw Dunbar, formerly in charge of the excavations. "We find a large and conspicuous rampart," said Professor R. A. S. MacAlister, director of the present expedition, "and it is reasonable to identify this with the fortification of David. It is a blockade erected to stop a great breach in the outer wall. The masonry of the main wall is distinctly superior to that of the early Jebusite wall."

King David's wall is built in alternate courses of large and small stones.

Philip H. Alston, prominent attorney and president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, was the guest and principal speaker at the weekly meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Alston expressed his appreciation of the work of the Junior Chamber during the past year and made a plea for the continuation of cooperation as the only means of getting results in a city as large as Atlanta. "In the days of the future," he stated, "and well coordinated action is a necessity."

Harvey G. Smith, manager of the Mohawk Red Men, presided at the entertainment of the first water in his "Ten Minutes of Fun," and his offerings of songs and jokes were exceedingly well received. Concluding the program, Aubrey Simmons, tenor, sang two popular songs accompanied at the piano by Miss Ruby Head.

W. B. SEABROOK'S BOOK IS SELECTED BY LITERARY GUILD

"The Magic Island," latest book from the pen of W. B. Seabrook, former Atlanta newspaperman, has been chosen as the most interesting and attractive book for January by the Literary Guild of New York, it was announced Thursday.

Mr. Seabrook, a traveler of note, has devoted his time during recent years to visiting out-of-the-way places and recording his impressions and unusual adventures. He is the author of "Adventures in Arabia," and it is reported, now is heading for Siam for the scenes in his next work, "The Magic Island" deals with Haiti and has many chapters of startling disclosures relating to the practice of "voodoo" among the natives.

GEORGE HARSH FACES TRIAL FOR LIFE JAN. 15

Dates of Gallogly, Carnes and Shippey Trials Are Still Unset.

The state of Georgia will seek the vengeance of the mosaic code upon George B. Harsh for the slaying of Willard Smith, clerk in the Eighth street pharmacy, in a trial starting on January 15, it was announced Thursday at the solicitor-general's office.

Harsh, 19-year-old former college student, will be placed on trial first, the state electing to sever the cases of Harsh and "Dick" Gallogly, who is under joint indictment with Harsh in connection with the murder of Smith and S. H. Meeks, the latter a grocery clerk in the A. & P. store, at 1004 Hemphill avenue.

Several preliminary reports have been made to William Schley Howard, James A. Branch, president and general manager, will conduct a regional sales convention in Atlanta January 31. More than 500 Frigidaire salesmen in Atlanta, which includes Atlanta, Miami, Jacksonville, Greensboro, Knoxville and Spartanburg—will be in attendance.

Twenty executives of the Frigidaire corporation, of Dayton, Ohio, headed by E. G. Biechler, president and general manager, will conduct a regional sales convention in Atlanta January 31. More than 500 Frigidaire salesmen in Atlanta, which includes Atlanta, Miami, Jacksonville, Greensboro, Knoxville and Spartanburg—will be in attendance.

During the meeting here products of the corporation will be demonstrated, and recent price reductions and plans for the new year will be discussed. The convention sessions will be held at the Elberton hotel, where a banquet in the evening at the Ansley hotel.

Decision of the corporation to again hold its regional convention in Atlanta reflects the growing importance of this city as a convention center. Mr. Danforth said. Because of the hospitality accorded visitors last year and the excellent hotel and transportation facilities there was no hesitancy in again choosing Atlanta, he declared.

Of special interest in Atlanta is the fact that E. G. Biechler, manager of Frigidaire branches and a member of the party, is a native of Georgia. He was born and reared in Whitfield county.

ELBERTON ELECTION UPHELD BY COURT

Elberton, Ga., January 2.—(Special.)—Voters living in an independent school district may vote in an election for county school superintendent, was the ruling given by Judge W. L. Hodges, of the northern circuit, in a decision handed down in the contest between Miss Mary Hansard, incumbent, and T. J. Cleveland, former superintendent.

Mr. Cleveland, by counting the Elberton vote, received a majority of the votes in last fall's election.

Miss Hansard contested on the ground the law provided that voters in an independent school district could not vote in an election for county school superintendent.

Judge Hodges held the law to be unconstitutional and declared Mr. Cleveland elected.

The decision is final and is of interest over the state. There are similar cases in several counties.

RED CROSS COURSE IN HOME HYGIENE TO START MONDAY

Classes in the Red Cross course in home hygiene and care of the sick will be started at 9 o'clock and 12 noon Monday morning at the Red Cross building, 289 1-2 Peachtree street. It was announced Thursday. It was stated that excellent equipment had been provided and that Miss Gail MacDonald, registered Red Cross nurse, will be in charge of classes.

The course consists of 15 two-hour lessons and on completion of the course, the Red Cross certificate and the state vocational certificate will be given. Registration should be made at once, it was pointed out. There is no tuition.

"PENNSYLVANIA" NAME OF BIG NEW VESSEL

The American Line Steamship corporation, owner of the Panama Pacific line, announced Thursday that its third steamer for this service now under construction at the Newport News shipbuilding yard is expected to enter the trade in November, 1920, and it has been decided to name her Pennsylvania, owing to the old affiliation of this company with Pennsylvania and the port of Philadelphia.

YEAR OF HELPFULNESS IS PLANNED BY CHEST

Executive Committee To Distribute $383,899 Collected, But To Drive For Balance.

Preparations for a year of activity designed to serve every human need, to fulfill Atlanta's obligations of social service and helpfulness, were announced Thursday by the executive committee of the Atlanta Community Chest.

With $383,899.78 in hand of the $450,000 which the budget committee of the chest has declared necessary as the minimum for complete service, the executive committee meeting Thursday authorized a distribution of this fund among the 39 societies which are supported through the chest, and at the same time urged that the campaign to raise the balance of $96,100.22 be continued.

There are bound to be needs which we cannot meet if we are deprived of this amount of money for 1920 service," said Henry C. Heinz, who was general chairman of the November campaign for public support.

Mr. Heinz was elected chairman of the executive committee, succeeding Rodney Morrison, who had served in that capacity for several years, but who was forced to resign because of ill health.

Kendall Weisger, personnel manager of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company, was added to the executive committee.

Determination to continue the appeal for support of the chest's program of "constructive philanthropy" will be expressed anew, it was indicated by the committee, at the annual meeting of members of the chest to be held next Monday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium. The chest will be elected at that meeting.

FRIGIDAIRE SALES STAFF TO MEET HERE

Successor to Dr. Gray and Carnes Will Be Selected Next Summer.

Dr. Arch C. Cree will continue as acting executive secretary and treasurer of the home mission board of the Southern Baptist convention until July 1, it was announced Thursday after a meeting of the board in its offices in the Mortgage Guaranty building. The successor to the retired Dr. R. D. Gray, executive secretary, and Clinton S. Carnes, defaulting treasurer, will not be selected until the annual meeting of the board which is to follow the convention of the church at Memphis on May 10.

Dr. Cree has obtained an extension of his leave from the Georgia Baptist convention, of which he is executive secretary. He will, as in the past, continue to give part of his time to the Georgia convention.

The board at its meeting Thursday voted to continue its office administration as in the past, retaining Dr. Arthur J. Barton as office secretary.

The present administrative organization became effective in September, following the disappearance of Carnes, now in the Fulton tower facing 20 indictments charging embezzlement. Dr. Cree was loaned to the mission board as acting executive secretary and on December 8 took over the duties of acting treasurer upon the retirement of Dr. Gray who had been selected to succeed Carnes temporarily.

BRIBE SOUGHT BY COUNCILMEN, ADAMS SAYS

Boston, January 3.—(P)—Charles F. Adams, vice president of the Boston National league baseball club, told the finance commission today that before the Sunday professional sports bill came before the city council for action he had received a telephone warning from an anonymous person.

The warning was that "certain members of the council were trying to get $5,000 each and if they didn't get it would delay until the bill had cobwebs on it."

Adams said that while he could not identify the person who called him by telephone and advised him that certain members of the council were planning to block the Sunday sports measure unless they received $5,000 each, he thought the voice sounded like that of Councilman Robert G. Wilson. As soon as the convention adjourned, Adams called

The Braves' vice president also testified that Myles MacSweeney, a Boston sports writer, had told him that he had evidence that "would hang at

CARLISLE STAR, HASKELL COACH

Lawrence, Kan., January 3.—(AP)—William H. (Lone Star) Dietz, former Carlisle star, today was appointed head football coach at Haskell institute, Lawrence, Kan.

The new Indian mentor last season coached the undefeated Los Angeles Athletic club eleven and the season before was first assistant to Glenn (Pop) Warner at Stanford university. Dietz, who is one-quarter Sioux, was named as an all-American tackle when he played with Carlisle in 1911.

From 1915 to 1917 he coached Washington State college, winning the Pacific coast title two of his three seasons and being runner-up the other. In 1918 he coached a team of Mare Island marines, champions of all service elevens. Dietz went to Purdue as head coach in 1921 and the next two seasons he coached Louisiana Polytechnic institute. ## Paavo Nurmi Asks For U. S. Track Permit

New York, January 3.—(P)—Paavo Nurmi filed application with the Amateur Athletic union today for a registration card, permitting him to compete in this country, but he will be asked to appear at an official hearing before it is issued.

In thus proclaiming officially his intention to start his return Amer-lean invasion as an amateur, neither Paavo nor his adviser, Hugo Quist, specified where or when the famous Finnish runner will make his competitive start. Nurmi will be interrogated as to his intentions by the registration committee of the Metropolitan A. A. U. to which his application was referred by Daniel J. Ferris, national secretary.

Nurmi's credentials were satisfactory. Ferris said, adding that no obstacle is foreseen to granting the Finn an amateur card. It is the request of the Finnish athletic governing body, according to Ferris, that the A. A. U. keep watch over Nurmi's activities and properly safeguard his appearance so that he will return home in good amateur standing.

Miss Candler Weds Mr. Chambers At Lovely Mid-Winter Ceremony

"Briarcliff Manor," the handsome Druid Hills home of Mr. and Mrs. Asa G. Candler, Jr., furnished a setting of stately beauty and charm for the wedding of their second daughter, Miss Laura Candler, to Edgar Chambers, Jr., which was brilliantly solemnized at 8 o'clock Thursday evening, the marriage uniting two of the city's most prominent families and attracting the interest of fashionable society throughout the south.

The marriage service was read by the bride's uncle, Bishop Warren representative of southern aristocracy. Quantities of stately Madonna lilies shed their fragrance throughout the handsome home, being combined with luxuriant palms and Woodwardia ferns in the elaborate decorative scheme featuring the color motif of green and white. The marriage vows were spoken before a pyramid altar formed of palms and lilies at one end of the long music room; a gorgeous tapestry forming a rich background for the flowers. Tall floor standards filled with lilies flanked either side of the altar, the bases tied with large bows of gleaming white satin ribbons, and the pedestals twined with sprays of smilax. Myriads of candles burned in cathedral candelabra among the flowers and palms of the altar.

The bridal party passed down the broad stairway into the entrance hallway, through the reception room and into the music room through an aisle formed of white wicker floor standards filled with Madonna lilies and connected with wide white satin ribbons caught at intervals with sprays of fern and single lilies. The stair rail was twined with smilax, the green garlands studded at intervals with single lilies. Tall baskets filled with Madonna lilies formed the decorations in the other rooms where the guests were received, mounds of the same lovely blossoms centering the mantels. The chandeliers and side lights were garlanded with smilax, forming a delicate green tracery against the gleaming crystal.

Organ Program.

Dr. Charles Sheldon, well-known Atlanta musician, rendered a well-selected program of organ music for the wedding. During the assembling of the guests he played "The Bridal Song from the Wedding Symphony," by Goldmark; "Romanze," by Svendsen; "Souvenir," by Drlia; "Legende," by Dethier; "Prelude to Lohengrin," by Wagner; "Intermezzo," by Hollins; "Minuet in G," by Beethoven; "Benediction Nuptial" from "Messe de Mariage," by DuBois; "Cantilene Nuptiale," by DuBois, and "Calm as the Night," by Bohm. During the ceremony Dr. Sheldon rendered his own improvisation of "Meditation" from the opera "Thais," by Massenet.

To the strains of the "Wedding March" from "Lohengrin," rendered on the organ, the bridal party descended the stairs, led by the ushers walking in pairs, John Harwell with Henry Lowe, both of Macon; Samuel Candler, brother of the bride, with Charles Peavy III, also of Macon.

Bridal Party.

They were followed by the bridesmaids and the groomsmen in the following order: Miss Jennie Gray Pearce, with Howard Candler, Jr.; Miss Margaret Feagle with Neil Baird, of Columbus, and Miss Daisy Kemp, of Miami, Fla., with John Candler, brother of the bride. The bridesmaids' gowns were Halberne models, fashioned alike of crisp taffetas, Miss Pearce wearing pastel green, Miss Feagle in yellow and Miss Kemp in orchid. The light sleeveless bodices were joined at the long waistlines to the skirts formed of two deep taffeta ruffles, the bodices and velvet of a matching shade. The round necklines were also bound in velvet and a large velvet bow, matching the shade of the gown, formed an effective finish at the back of each model.

Miss Pearce carried a graceful sheath of Opelia roses and yellow snapdragons. The other bridesmaids also carried sheath bouquets, Miss Feagle's combining Pernet roses with snapdragons and Miss Kemp's featuring Opelia roses with snapdragons. Misses Helen and Martha Candler, twin sisters of the bride, were maids of honor, entering with William Chambers, Jr., and Cody Laird. Their charming costumes were Lanvin models of powder blue taffetas, the becoming tight bodices being joined at the low waistlines to full skirted skirts, cut long in back and short in front. Large taffeta bows finished the waistline at the center front, the long ends embroidered in brilliant, forming a sash in the back. They carried graceful sheaths, combining Opelia roses and pale yellow snapdragons.

The ring bearer, Homer Thompson, small nephew of the bride, carried the ring on a white satin pillow, showered with valley lilies. He wore for the occasion a smart white suit, combining a satin blouse with ruffled collar and cuffs, and short velvet trousers. The bride's sister, Mrs. Homer Thompson, acted as her matron of honor, entering alone and wearing an exquisite French model, designated as "Mon Secret," and fashioned of delicate cyclamen pink chiffon. Employing becoming straight lines, the gown featured a bodice of tiny tucks and a skirt formed entirely of petals with the uneven hemline, short in front and extending into a train in the back. Her flowers were a gorgeous shower bouquet of pink roses and valley lilies. All attendants wore satin slippers dyed to match their gowns.

Exquisite Bride.

The lovely young bride entered with her father, Asa Candler, Jr., who gave her in marriage. Her dainty blond beauty was enhanced by her bridal robes of softest ivory-tinted satin, the tight-fitting bodice extremely becoming to her youthful figure. The skirt was formed of several tiers of tulle, the long tight sleeves, also of tulle, being caught at the wrist with a spray of orange blossoms. A band of exquisite princess lace formed a yoke to the bodice, the lace crossing in the center front, the long ends meeting at the waistline in the back. A court train of satin was fastened to the shoulders, its entire length being covered with a precious veil of princess lace, fastened to the bride's lovely blond hair by a becoming lace cap. Tiny clusters of orange blossoms caught at each side of the cap, extending into a wreath which encircled the back. The bride's slippers of white satin were adorned with a buckle formed of orange blossoms and the bride's only ornament was a handsome diamond lavalier, which belonged to her mother, the late beloved Mrs. Helen Magill Candler. A gorgeous arm bouquet of valley lilies, showered with tulle, completed the bridal ensemble.

Mr. Chambers had as his best man his brother, Robert Chambers. Immediately following the marriage service, a reception was held. Mr. and Mrs. Asa Candler, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Chambers receiving with the bride and groom.

Mrs. Candler was handsomely gowned in Nile green chiffon, elaborately beaded in a crystal design. Her flowers were a shower spray of orchids.

Mrs. Chambers, mother of the groom, wore a Lorraine model of blue satin adorned with a side drape, finished with a choux of satin and extending below the hemline. A shoulder bouquet of orchids and valley lilies completed her costume.

Bride's Table.

The bride's table, placed in the dining room, was exquisitely appointed, the decorative motif employing the Opelia rose. Covered with satin of Opelia rose color, it was overlaid with an imported cloth of point de Venise lace. Twin heart-shaped wreaths, formed of Opelia roses and valley lilies and placed end to end, formed the centerpiece, single heart-shaped wreaths of the same flowers gracing either end of the table. From the center of the twin wreaths rose a bouquet of valley lilies showered with tulle, an exact reproduction of the bride's bouquet. Tall silver candelabra, placed at intervals on the table, held tapers of Opelia rose color. Covers were placed for members of the bridal party, each girl's place marked with a charming bisque doll whose gown was a replica of that worn by the attendant whose place it designated. The gentlemen's places were marked by miniature groomsmen wearing the latest in evening attire for men.

French bowls embedded in mounds of roses and valley lilies were placed in the living room and the breakfast

Miss Brooks and Mr. Shaefer Wed at College Park Ceremony

Of cordial interest to their many friends throughout the state and other sections was the marriage of Miss Eleanor Anne Brooks to Frederick Shaefer, which was solemnized on Thursday, January 3, high noon, at the College Park Methodist church, which was decorated with palms and cut flowers. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. W. Erwin, assisted by Rev. L. E. Roberts.

A program of music was rendered by Mrs. Harry McCowen, while Clarence Wall sang "Because" and Miss Zella Sorrells sang "All For You." The wedding party entered to the strains of the bridal chorus, from "Lohengrin," and Mendelssohn's march was used as recessional. During the ceremony the pianist rendered Schubert's serenade.

Miss Winnie Johnson and Miss Gladys Newborn, bridesmaids, were gown in moderate blue chiffon with hats to match and carried pink roses. Mrs. Carlton Kimberly, matron of honor, wore blue chiffon with hat to match and carried arm bouquets of pink roses.

The groom had as his attendants his six nephews. George S. Heard acting as best man, and W. G. Shaefer, Pomp Shaefer, Steve Shaefer, F. C. Shaefer and R. S. Heard acting as groomsmen and ushers.

The lovely bride, who entered with her father, A. B. Brooks, wore an ensemble of tan with hat and shoes to match and carried a bouquet of bride's roses showered with lilies of the valley.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Shaefer left for a trip through Florida. Upon their return they will make their home in College Park. Mr. Shaefer is secretary of the Atlanta Association of Building Owners and Managers, with offices in the Atlanta Trust Company building.

Burlesque Ceremony Centers Interest of Contingent at Fort

Fort McPherson, January 3.—A smart affair of yesterday was the luncheon given by Mrs. Richmond Pearson Davis at her quarters in the garrison. Covers were placed at the perfectly appointed table for 12, including Messdames Abraham G. Lott, Lochlin W. Caffey, Charles L. Foster, Christian A. Bach, Carl H. Seals, Roland Gaugler, Gilbert Proctor, Rufus Parsons, Robert Moore, I. H. Joffe and Davis.

The burlesque guard mount held on the parade ground Wednesday morning was a humorous affair, unique in detail, with company G and the band of the twenty-second infantry participating. The officer of the day with his staff tripping him at every step, his high silk hat and pipe, was an amusing figure; while the sergeant major in a hula skirt and polo hat provoked much laughter from the spectators.

The army mule also vied for honors in the burlesque guard mount, and in his unique trappings was a ridiculous figure, ridden by an ambitious infantry man in an ancient helmet, field glasses, a tattered suit and carrying a polo stick.

The affair was staged by the enlisted personnel themselves and was replete with soldier humor. The familiar commands of the guard mount ceremony were changed somewhat. "Pass in review" was changed to "bring 'em by and let me look 'em over."

Among the spectators were General and Mrs. Abraham Lott, Colonel and Mrs. Lochlin W. Caffey, Mrs. Augustus B. Jones, Mrs. Maxwell G. Keeler, Captain and Mrs. Robert Joerg, Jr., Major Oliver Allen, Mrs.

Olivia P. Beall, D. C. Walker, W. J. Haskell, all of Macon; Miss Alma Schrodt, Miss Emma Davis, of Valdosta; M. S. Shivers, of Eatonton; Miss Alice Beall, of Carrollton, and L. W. Hamilton, of Cordelle.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Merry and Miss Dorothy Merry, of Augusta, are spending a few days at the Biltmore.

Miss Josephine Richardson and Miss Louise Richardson left Wednesday for Warrenton, Ga., to resume their studies at the Warrenton school for girls.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Goldsmith and Mrs. Arthur Rosenberg and Mrs. Mattie Conner, of New York, are guests at the Biltmore, having come down to attend the Candler-Chambers wedding.

James L. Logan is confined to his home at 3315 Peachtree road with an attack of influenza.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Ramsay have leased their home on Fourteenth street and have moved with their family to their new home at 1161 Oxford road, N. E.

Mrs. Herbert N. Evans, of Balboa, Canal Zone, and Mrs. W. O. Bowman at their home on Peachtree Hills avenue.

Poetry Forum Meets Sunday.

The Poetry Forum of the Atlanta Writers' club meets Sunday afternoon, January 6, at 3 o'clock at the home of Miss Ellen Wolff, 48 Peachtree place, N. E., and Dr. Thorndell Jackson, president of Oglethorpe university, will read from his new volume of poems, "Isles of the Blest." His poems are being widely heralded and praised and the forum will have the opportunity of hearing the author read them. Members and their friends interested in poetry are cordially invited to be present. Miss Agnes Gray, chairman, will preside.

Writers are urged to send in poems to the chairman, that a selected group may be read and discussed anonymously after Dr. Jackson's reading. This was done at the last meeting and proved to be a most interesting and enjoyable plan.

"ALL US FELLAS GOT IT GOOD AND HARD FOR THE WAY WE ACTED AT THE ENTERTAINMENT YESTERDAY. JUDGE GRABBER SAID WE WOULDN'T BE ALLOWED IN ANY PUBLIC MEETING ANYMORE UNLESS THE WHOLE POLICE FORCE WAS THERE."

"WE WERE FEELIN' PRETTY BLUE. WE WERE GOIN' TO THE BANK WITH JERRY MOORE. HE HAD TO GET SOME KIND OF BOMBS FOR HIS POP. WE PASSED A SECOND-HAND STORE, AND GEE WHIZ! THERE WAS THOSE DEER HORNS HANGING IN THE WINDOW."

"WE ALL WENT IN. A LITTLE OLD MAN CAME UP TO US AND WE TOLD HIM WE CAME TO GET THE JUDGE'S DEER HORNS. HE SAID WE HAD TO PAY HIM FOR 'EM, AND WE SEARCHED OUR POCKETS AND WE JUST HAD ENOUGH MONEY WITH A DIME LEFT OVER."

"WE TOOK THE DEER HORNS UP TO THE JUDGE'S HOUSE. WE WERE GLAD TO GET 'EM BACK TO HIM. WHEN WE SAW THE PLACE WHERE WE CUT DOWN HIS CEDAR TREES, I GOT TO THINKIN' I THOUGHT WE BETTER SQUARE IT UP WITH THE JUDGE, WHICH WE DID."

General Appleyard Of Tallahassee, Fla., Weds Mrs. Gwynne

Cards have been received by a number of prominent Atlantians announcing the marriage of Mrs. Katie Amelia Gwynne, of Fort Myers, Fla., to General Thomas Jefferson Appleyard, of Tallahassee, Fla., the ceremony taking place Tuesday, November 27, at the Trinity church in New Orleans, Louisiana.

General Appleyard is numbered among the south's most prominent newspaper men, having achieved notable success as editor of a leading daily newspaper in the state of Florida.

He served with distinction in the Confederate army and holds proudly the honor of brigadier generalship. General Appleyard has frequently visited Atlanta and has wide circle of friends here who will receive the announcement of his marriage with cordial interest.

Jonas Lie Exhibit To Be Opened With Preview on Friday

The Junior league members will act as hostesses at the preview of Jonas Lie's paintings and reception, for members of the Atlanta Art association at the High Museum of Art January 4 from 4 to 6 o'clock. The exhibit, together with a display of work by High museum students, is one of the outstanding displays to be shown at the museum during the winter.

Rose V. S. Berry, writing in the American Magazine of Art says of Jonas Lie: "He is a serious thinker, on earnest student of art, one who in his enthusiasm thrills to the task, inspired by what he sees. Lie brings to his work the soul of the modern artist expressed with the sanity of the thinker and philosopher."

New Era Study Club Entertained by Miss Sewell.

The annual Christmas party of the New Era Study club was given at the home of the president, Mrs. W. B. Sewell, last Wednesday. Each guest set for her picture, her silhouette being traced on the sheet of paper and pinned on the wall, to be numbered and featured in a guessing contest. Mrs. George Phillips was the only one who named 12 out of 17 correctly, and won first prize. The consolation prize went to Mrs. Reynolds, the honor guest, the prizes being artistically framed silhouettes. A presentation of gifts, one to each member of the club, was presented by some other member. A beautiful picture, "St. John the Divine," a gift from the club, was presented to the president by Mrs. Parker with an expression of appreciation of her efficient service and inspiration to the club.

Mrs. Sewell was assisted in the entertaining by Mrs. Stauffer and by Mrs. Leonard Sewell, her daughter-in-law.

Those present were: Mesdames F. M. Akers, C. F. Dowd, Eva Hewitt, R. Z. Oswald, M. B. Parker, George Phillips, F. T. Philp, P. V. P. A. G. W. Quillian, J. D. Rhodes, W. B. Sewell, C. R. Stauffer, Tim Thornton, E. H. West, Mrs. Reynolds, Leonard Sewell, Mrs. E. A. Brooks and Mrs. Augustus Ware.

RADIO-ING THE AIR WAVES

BY THE DIAL TWISTER.

Special musical and dramatic productions, each of a different nature, will be presented by the Hudson-Essex Challengers in a series of broadcasts through WSB and a coast-to-coast network of stations associated with the N. B. C. system which will have its premiere this evening at 9 o'clock.

Henry M. Neely, he in the cast. Josef Pasternack will conduct the orchestra and Henry M. Neely will be master of ceremonies.

The Kern operetta has its setting in France in the days when gaslight was crowding out the old lamps. A lamp-lighter, who realizes his uselessness soon will be ended, a young soldier about to go off to war, and the girl with whom he is in love are the principal characters.

Besides the operetta, the inaugural program also will include a potpourri of selections from "Show Boat," to be played by the orchestra.

The radio audience will be invited to accompany "Uncle Bob," a trekked into the wilderness of Africa, Abyssinia and India on a wild animal hunt. This thrilling experience will be offered in the Dixie circus program, broadcast through WSB and the N. B. C. system at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

How wild animals are captured for the circus menagerie makes a fascinating story, filled with excitement and adventure, and "Uncle Bob's" realistic description is as good as the trip itself.

Musical comedy selections will predominate in the program of the Armstrong Quakers, to be broadcast through WSB and the N. B. C. system at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

The mixed vocal sextet will present a special arrangement of "Swing Low, Swing Low," the orchestra will play "I Must Love You," from "Chee Chee," and "The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers," from the first edition of the "Chauncey Sours."

"Lady Whippoorwill," from "Gross My Heart," will be offered in a novel arrangement for three saxophones and piano.

The Quaker girls' solo will be "Song of Songs," and she will also be heard in a duet by soprano and contralto. Nevin's "Mighty Lak a Rose," which will include a viola obbligato.

Male quartet selections will be the popular songs, "Auf Wiedersehen" and "Round Even," both numbers having been specially arranged by Ken Christie.

An orchestra of jolly Spargmen under Harold Sanford will play Beethoven's "The Crickets' Serenade" as the opening number. On the vocal side, a view to be broadcast through WSB and a coast-to-coast network of stations associated with the N. B. C. system at 8 o'clock tonight.

"There Once Was an Owl," from Victor Herbert's "Ballette"; and "All the Fun of the Fair," from Fletcher's "Rustle Reveal," suite, will be other orchestra features. On the vocal side, Marjorie Horton, soprano, is heard in "Challita," by Schetzinger; the Dalt-hart trio presents "Eleven-Cent Cotton" and "My Boy's Voice"; and Smalle and Robertson, comedy duo, sing "I Said and She Said" and "There's a Little Bit of Devil in Evelyn."

Dave Grupp, xylophonist, and Charles Magante, accordionist, are heard in solo numbers, while as a special novelty, Carson Robinson will whistle "Fidgets" in his own arrangement.

The Philco hour will be broadcast through WSB and a coast-to-coast network of stations associated with the N. B. C. system at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

Jessica Dragonette, soprano, and Colin O'More, tenor, will remain the featured artists of the presentation, with an augmented orchestra under Harold Sanford.

The overture from de Koven's "Robin Hood," the opera of merry England, will open the first broadcast on the new schedule. Miss Drag-onette will follow with "Forest Song," and Mr. O'More will join her in the duet, "My Dream Will Come True," from the same opera.

"The Dearest Song," a modern musical play, will be represented by a

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN.
Associated Press Market Editor.

Chicago, January 3.—(P)—Word that Argentina is underselling North American wheat in Europe by as much as 2c a bushel went far today to send wheat values here down-grade. In decided contrast the corn market fended upward, owing largely to evidence of active transatlantic demand for corn from the United States.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, 5-8c to 1-2c net lower, corn finished at 1-4c to 1-2c advance, oats unchanged to 1-4c up and provisions varying from 20c decline to a rise of 1c.

Reports that Argentine wheat is being pressed for sale abroad at cheaper prices went hand in hand today with a setback in wheat quotations at Liverpool, whereas an advance there had been looked for. Moreover, wheat shipments from Argentina last week were shown to bulk larger than was the case either the week previous or a year ago. Definite advice were also received that price disparity between Argentine wheat offerings and those from North America are on wheat of equal quality and in particular No. 4 northern grade from Canada. Announcement was likewise made that world stocks of wheat show a further increase of nearly 16,000,000 bushels.

Faced by such conditions, export business today in wheat from North America was estimated as amounting to only 400,000 bushels.

Corn was relatively strong all day in the face of what weakness. Messages from the seaboard indicated a good-sized volume of corn export business had been put through and that inquiries were being made for liberal quantities of corn. Oats reflected the upward trend of corn, but kept within narrow limits.

Provisions acted easier, chiefly as a result of bearish aspects of the monthly exhibit of warehouse stocks in Chicago.

CHARLES A. WATERS DIES AT RESIDENCE

Funeral Services Will Be Conducted at 2 O'Clock This Afternoon.

Funeral services for Charles Ambrose Waters, 79, veteran of the flour mill business, who died Thursday morning at his residence in Decatur, will be conducted at 2 o'clock today at Spring Hill chapel, with burial in West View cemetery.

Mr. Waters began his connections with the milling business as a young man in Cleveland, Tenn., with W. C. Mansfield. He later went to Sweetwater, Tenn., where Mr. Mansfield transferred his business to that city. In 1898, when the Atlanta Milling company was formed by the Messrs. Whitman, Mansfield and associates, Mr. Waters came to Atlanta and assisted in laying the original plans for the business. He later accompanied Mr. Whitman to Indianapolis, Ind., to supervise purchase of machinery for the newly-founded company.

Up until about 15 years ago he was in active charge of the manufacturing end of the company but at that time was ordered by his doctors to get into work that would take him more into the open. He then accepted a position on the road and up until about two weeks ago he was active in the retail flour trade in and near Atlanta.

He is survived by his widow and two daughters, the Misses Daisy and Adele Waters and a son, George East Waters.

COFFIN IS GUEST OF SAVANNAH CHAMBER

Savannah, Ga., January 3.—(AP)—Howard E. Coffin, host to President and Mrs. Coolidge on their recent vacation at Sapelo island, will be the guest of honor at the annual meeting of the Savannah Junior Chamber of Commerce January 10. It was announced tonight by Secretary Nelson Stephens.

Mr. Coffin will be honored by the Savannah organization for his service to Georgia during 1928 in so successfully broadening to the world the attractions of the coastal section. It is expected that Alfred Jones, president of the Sea Island company, will also be a guest.

5-Year Search To Repay Debt Yields Success

Chicago, January 3.—(AP)—A wrinkled and well-cressed check for $1,000 which C. A. Meyer, Kansas City toy manufacturer, had been trying to give to Thomas A. Casey for five years, today reached the intended recipient.

Several years ago Casey loaned Meyer $1,000 when the toy business was poor. When Meyer was ready to pay back the money he could not find Casey. He started an intensive search and several times heard of Mr. Casey but never caught up with him.

Yesterday he came here on a tip that Mr. Casey was living in Evanston but found he had moved. However, the newspapers printed a story and Casey's brother saw it. Casey communicated with the Evanston chief of police who in turn communicated with Mr. Meyer.

Today the much-worn check arrived and was turned over to Mr. Casey.

"Sure, I'm glad to get it," said Casey. "I had forgotten about it—only wish I could have seen my old friend, Meyer."

Meyer is coming here for a visit next week to tell Mr. Casey to let forward addresses when he moves in the future.
